1. Introduction
2. Goosenomics
3. Goose's safety rules
4. Road To Glory

Big words bring big brains, itsy-bitsy words bring ALL brains.

We are here to serve the masses. With a goal in mind to create a unique, fun experience with a community that works together to build a successful project, while at the same time offering base fundamentals that create upwards price movement and interest to both the serious investor and those that just like cats flying through space.

GOOSENOMICS

Let's not kid ourselves. Every token tries to find its niche. A fun gimmick that draws interest and eyes often are good for the extreme pump, while those late to the party can find themselves destroyed. Whether it being unrealistic burns, insane inflation due to unsustainable APYs, or the always reliable promises of 'soon' where nothing comes, these gimmicks are as old as Satoshi's grandmother. Our focus? Fun! Giveaways! Creating opportunities. BUT....The backbone of it all is sustainable goosenomics which causes continuous upward price movement. Don't get your panties in a bunch, that doesn't mean the token will never dip and/or consolidate. That's as unrealistic as getting one of those girls from your favorite GIF over at your house this weekend. What that does mean, though, is that code behind it all is meant to, in time, offer a process that causes the price to have no choice but to rise over time. This takes us...to the moon!

A trip to the moon often starts with GA-GA-GA.

In that

In this case, it all started with the GST team sending liquidity tokens to the dead address 0xdead00000000000000000042069420694206942069.

This not only inherently reduces supply and increases demand, but later it becomes a valuable part of the lifting floor due to other token functions.
